

Please do not allow any further concentration of media ownership, particularly cross-ownership of different types of media outlets in the same market. A diversity of information sources is extremely important to the vitality of democracy, and our major media are already dominated by far too few voices. Thank you for your consideration.

Tim Delaney